

Women's Health Event

Thursday 12 September 2024

SAVE THE DATE ANNOUNCEMENT

Products specifically addressing women's health needs often find lower levels of interest and hence investment than general health solutions, despite this being a critically important area of healthcare. There are exciting products, developments and initiatives currently underway which have the potential to improve women's lives, demonstrating world class innovation and scientific and medical expertise.

Burness Paull and the SLA are pleased to be hosting an afternoon event in Edinburgh on Thursday 12th September which will showcase some of these initiatives, including many supported by companies or individuals based in Scotland.

Guests will have the opportunity to hear presentations and a panel discussion from a variety of leading experts working in Healthcare & Life Sciences in Scotland, with the session chaired by Dr Janet Halliday, former Associate Vice President of Ferring.

The keynote presentation will be given by Shonagh Walker Head of Pharmaceutical Development at Ferring Controlled Therapeutics, a spin out formed in the 1980s from the University of Strathclyde based in East Kilbride, and part of the wider Ferring Pharmaceuticals group . Ferring Pharmaceuticals is a privately owned, research-driven, specialty biopharmaceutical group committed to building families and helping people live better lives. They are leaders in reproductive medicine and maternal health, and in areas of gastroenterology and urology.

Other companies and institutions which have already confirmed their participation in the event include Medannex, Calla Lilly, Emblation, Talking Medicines, Medharent and the University of St Andrews.

Final details of the programme and those participating will be confirmed very soon.
