

Appointment of External Governors

Part-time/Voluntary

Outstanding individuals are being sought to serve on Edinburgh Napier University's governing body, the University Court.

Lay Court membership represents a unique opportunity to help shape the work of one of Scotland's most ambitious and progressive universities.

You will have a strong commitment to higher education and will bring significant experience of operating at a senior level in any business or organisation in the private, public or not-for-profit environments.

At the present time we are ideally seeking to recruit individuals with such experience gained within any of the following sectors:

- Engineering
- Biomedical
- Health
- Financial Services
- Legal
- Communications/ Media

The University is committed to achieving a diverse governing body and welcomes applications from all suitably experienced individuals, particularly those who would further enhance its diversity.

These posts are part-time (around 12 working days per annum) voluntary opportunities for an initial term of 4 years.

Further information, including full role description and person specification, is available at: <http://staff.napier.ac.uk/courtmember>. To apply please send a full CV and supporting statement outlining your relevant experience and the contribution you would make to the University to:

David Cloy, Secretary to Court
